Message from the languages commissioner

My first full year as your Commissioner has proven eventful, both for this office and for Nunavut's languages rights, which are the raison d'être of the Official Languages Act and the Inuit Language Protection Act.

One of these events is our new mandate. As accorded by the language acts of July 1, 2009, the mandate of the Languages Commissioner now includes stronger investigative powers, the ability to combine investigations, and the ability to initiate investigations.

On the issues of language rights, while I congratulate the Government of Nunavut (GN) for the progress it has made to push through the language legislation, the results of our review of the status of language services in Nunavut show that it has earned a failing grade in most basic language services!

Language rights are an extension of the right to safety, shelter, food, property and so on. Language rights enable us to communicate in areas such as the media, government, administration, and education in the language of our country or, in this case, Nunavut. Nunavummiut have the right to receive language services from our territorial institutions in an official language; those institutions have an obligation to provide these services. Unfortunately, even the simple act of receiving such services by telephone is difficult. Of 101 calls we made, we were only able to reach 37 central offices. Out of 64 voice mails, only 16 messages contained the Inuit language and two the French language

Similar results apply to press releases and other services. For example, we found language compliance with websites extremely low. In an analysis of 20 departments and agencies websites, our research showed that web content is 100% in English, 46% in Inuktitut, 18% in Inuinnaqtun, and 19% in French.

Our results are fully covered in the inserted report Status of Language Services—a ten year review. This lack of language legislation compliance may explain why, in some quarters, we encountered some resistance to our requests for information, even hostility towards answering questions on available language services.

This demonstrates to us that there must be stronger leadership shown both by Ministers and senior management in the territorial institutions for their respective departments to comply with the language acts. Doing nothing is not an option when lives and survival of languages are so greatly affected.

Despite our disappointment with the results of our research, we must comment on a few good signs. The language acts have now been passed, Inuit language training—one of the past recommendations made by this office—has been acted on, tools to expedite translations are under review and, in October 2010, the Minister of Language is expected to table the Implementation Plan for the Inuit Language Protection Act. It is hoped then that stronger, more vigorous action will be taken.

Urgent action is the essence of the one recommendation made in this report. There are no point reiterating recommendations if nothing is done about them. The Government has taken great strides by getting the two language acts through the legislative process but it cannot stop there—it is the body that drives the territory forward to make the language legislation successful. Without action, the phrases and statements contained in any plan are hyperbolic.

Activity Report

Meetings and Events

April, 2009

The Languages Commissioner attended the Forum of Canadian Ombudsman (FCO) conference, which celebrated 200 years of the role of Ombudsman. The Association of Canadian College and University Ombudspersons, the Forum of Canadian Ombudsman and the International Ombudsman Association hosted the event.

The Languages Commissioner attended meetings both in and outside the Territory of Nunavut. The spring (as well as fall) months began the important task of exploring ideas on how best to implement the Inuit Language Protection Act. This included round table discussions throughout the Territory.

The Languages Commissioner attended the Language Leadership Retreat in Arctic Bay. Also present were the Premier, Minister of Languages, and representatives from Nunavut Tunngavik and regional Inuit organizations.

The Languages Commissioner & Policy Analyst also participated in meetings at the Department of Culture, Language, Elders & Youth to prepare for the Language Leadership Retreat.

Also during April, the Languages Commissioner met with Finland's Mr. Markku Virri, Minister-Counsellor and Mr. Klemetti Nakkäläjärvi, President of Finland's Sami Parliament.

June, 2009

The Languages Commissioner, along with the Premier and the Language Minister, attended the House of Commons sitting on concurrence for the Nunavut Official Languages Act.

The Languages Commissioner attended the Senate Committee on Legal and Constitutional Affairs in Ottawa where she explained her role as Languages Commissioner of Nunavut and answered questions relating to language rights. This was a senate committee review of the Nunavut Official Languages Act prior to concurrence by Parliament.

Operations

May, 2009

We obtained a new legal service contract following an RFP.

New Website development took place over the course of ten months.

Starting in May, the Public Affairs Officer office helped de- velop the Legislative Assembly's RFP for new website development and participated on the selection committee.

In August, he was in a three-day working group with the successful vendor (Web Networks) on pre-design planning.

October consisted of editing and testing, as well as writing and editing content.

February, 2010 saw the website “soft” launch which enabled testing, updating, correcting and so on. This involved inviting various parties in government and the private sector to give feedback.

June, 2009

Started the task of filling four new positions, and in the fall one vacant position: Director of Policy (replacing Policy Analyst position); Investigator/Researcher—Inuit language; Investigator/Researcher—French, Private Sector Liaison Officer, and Executive Secretary.

This required:

A rewrite of the job descriptions, job evaluation, advertising, screening and hiring.

In October the Investigator/Researcher - French and the Executive Secretary joined the team.

The Languages Commissioner made a presentation at an international conference in Iqaluit which was sponsored by the BOREAS Program of the European Science Foundation, in partnership with the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada and the US National Science Foundation.

As part of our monitoring role, our office sent a letter to the Minister of Languages requesting that he keeps the Languages Commissioner informed on the implementation activities.

During this time we also sent a letter to the Minister of Education requesting a progress report on the “right to instruction in the Inuit language” for the kindergarten to grade three students. If the department is having difficulties meeting its obligations, we wanted to know its plans for rectifying the situation. This knowledge would help us in the future compare results on a year-by-year basis.

June, 2009

We hosted the storytelling event of the Alianait Arts Festival. The promotion of Nunavut's languages and cultures through storytelling is just one way of underlining the importance of language rights.

July, 2009

The Policy Analyst took part in judging the Nunavut Song Contest organized by Culture, Language, Elders & Youth.

Our new mandate came into effect July 1, 2009. We publicized our new mandate, along with our new logo, with advertising in several publications.

October, 2009

The Languages Commissioner participated in an Inuit Broadcasting Corporation phone-in about new language laws and issues. Also on the panel were the Minister of Languages and the President of Nunuvut Tunnguvik Incorporation.

The Public Affairs Officer organized presentations to various GN departments on the concept of translation memories and content management tools that would improve the efficiency of translation and reduce costs. Presentation was made via WebEx by SDL Trados, the primary major global vendor of such tools.

Inquiries

The Office received daily inquiries by phone, e-mails and in person. Most questions were either about Nunavut's language legislation and policies or on how to find translation services. In addition, information was also sought on where to find Inuit language learning resources and for clarification on proper spelling, wording and grammar. We received and answered inquiries in English, the Inuit language, and French.

Roles and Responsibilities

The Languages Commissioner Languages Commissioner is an independent Officer of the Legislative Assembly appointed to a four year term by the Legislative Assembly's Management and Services Board. The responsibilities of the Languages Commissioner are those detailed in both the Official Languages Act (which was adopted by Nunavut from the Northwest Territories), and the Inuit Language Protection Act.

The Nunavut legislature passed its own Official Languages Act in June 2008 which has since received parliament concurrence as required under the federal Nunavut Act. This act comes into effect when the Cabinet makes a decision for it to happen.

The Languages Commissioner has four primary roles: to act as Ombudsman, to Advocate, to Monitor, and to Advise.

Ombudsman

The Languages Commissioner oversees services or communication in the official languages by the GN and other territorial institutions. This ombudsman role will also extend to municipalities, which must provide service and communication in the Inuit language from September 2012 and, where there is a significant demand, the French language.

The role of ombudsman for official languages will eventually include the private sector. This will start at a date decided by Cabinet.

If a concern is voiced, the Office of the Languages Commissioner will:

- Conduct thorough, impartial and independent investigations of any concerns received;
- Consider possible resolutions of concerns;
- Consult with and make recommendations to authorities to improve practices;
- Provide reports to the Legislative Assembly and the people of Nunavut about language service issues, including suggestions on improvements where needed, and
- Respond to inquiries from the public.

Advocate

The Languages Commissioner is not only responsible for providing information and advising on language rights but also encouraging territorial institutions, municipalities and the private sector to provide services and communications in the official languages. The Languages Commissioner has the right to bring an application to court to remedy any violation of the language acts.

Monitor

The Government of Nunavut's progress in meeting its obligations under:

- The Official Languages Act, which recognizes the Inuit Language, English and French as the official languages and sets minimum standards for services in these languages by territorial institutions (and municipalities by 2012);
- The Inuit Language Protection Act, which requires that the Minister for Languages take steps to revitalize and to protect the Inuit Language;
- Tamapta, one of GN priorities which includes the right to communicate in one's preferred official language;
- The Nunavut Land Claims Agreement requirement to remove employment barriers for Nunavummiut who speak the Inuit language as their first language, and
- The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, which guarantees English and French minorities have the right to have their children educated in their language anywhere in Canada.

Advise

The Official Languages of Nunavut

The new Official Languages Act of Nunavut recognizes the Inuit (Inuktitut and Inuinnaqtun), English and French languages as the official languages within the territory.

The Inuit language

The Inuit language includes Inuinnaqtun and Inuktitut. Nunavut's population is 83% Inuit, with over two thirds having the Inuit language as their mother tongue. However, only 77% have the ability to speak, to some degree, the Inuit language.

There are two writing systems in the Inuit language: Qaliuyaqpait (or Roman orthography) and Qaniuyaqpait (syllabics). Most Inuktitut speakers use syllabics to write their language. Inuinnaqtun speakers use the roman orthography writing system. There are efforts to have both writing systems use the Inuit Cultural Institute standard orthography.

French

There are 420 individuals with French as their mother tongue and 1200 claiming to speak it. Nunavut's capital of Iqaluit is home to a thriving Francophone community. Close to 800 people in Iqaluit reported the ability to speak French, and there are many Franco-Inuit families in the city. The French speaking population is served by a school, a daycare, a community radio station, a cultural centre, a health network and a economic development organization.

English

While English is the mother tongue for only 26.5% of Nunavut's population, 88.1% speak the language. It is the main language in regional centres and larger communities, and the prevailing language of government and industry.

The Official Languages Act

The Official Languages Act received Parliamentary concurrence in June 2009. The Nunavut cabinet can now make an order to set the effective date for the act.

This Act gives official and equal status in Nunavut to the Inuit, English and French languages. The following territorial institutions must comply with the service requirements of the Act.

- The Legislative Assembly
- The Government of Nunavut, its boards and agencies
- Nunavut courts.

Official Languages Act & Municipalities

By September 2012, a municipality must be able to provide services in the Inuit language and, if there is significant demand, in French. Significant demand is based on:

- Proportion of the population served;
- Volume of “language of choice” used by the public;
- Importance, scope or impact of services in question, and
- Relevance of the service to public health, safety and security.

The Inuit Language Protection Act

The Inuit Language Protection Act came into effect on September 18, 2008. The act mandates the government to take specific measures to revitalize and protect the Inuit language. This has implications for education, municipalities and the private sector.

Important dates under ILPA

- Responsibilities of the Minister of Languages – September 19, 2008
- The expanded mandate of the Languages Commissioner – July 1st, 2009
- Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtiiit (Inuit language authority)– by September 2009
- Education: Right to instruction in the Inuit Language:
  - For kindergarten to grade three by July 2009
  - All grades by July 2019
- GN: Right to work in the Inuit language in the public service – September 2011
- Municipal services – September 2012
- Private sector: Inuit Language services to the public, probably within the next five years.

Minister of Languages—Responsibilities

According to ILPA, the Minister must take specific actions to protect and revitalize the Inuit language. The actions will take concrete form in the ILPA Implementation Strategy. The strategy will include:

- Measures for monitoring and evaluating performance by public service;
- Raising public awareness of the history, use, status and importance of Inuit language;
- Identifying and developing technology for Inuit language media distribution and access;
- Increasing public access to Inuit language resources;

Languages Commissioner—Expanded Role

As of July 1, 2009 the Languages Commissioner's mandate was expanded enabling her/him to:

- Implement a mediation process for concerns received;
- On her/his own initiative start an investigation;
- Assist Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtii (the Language Authority) when requested;
- Compel the release of information to enable the investigation of concerns;
- Summons and enforce a person by way of an affidavit;
- Inform the private sector on the new language requirements and assist them with their Inuit language plans;
- Approve language plans submitted by members of the private sector or make suggestions or recommendations on amendments to the plan;
- Investigate concerns over a perceived failure of the use, promotion and protection requirements of the Acts or the spirit and intent of the acts, and
- Take legal recourse, if necessary, over any perceived violation of language rights.

Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtii

The Act calls for the creation of an Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtii (language authority or Taiguusiliuqtii) to establish standard terminology, competency standards and publish their work. The language authority is now in place. The Department of Culture, Languages, Elders and Youth can be contacted for any questions regarding Taiguusiliuqtii.

Concerns

We received three formal concerns in the reporting year. The concerns were handled in a confidential manner: two formally and one informally concluded.

We continued to receive concerns from people regarding the lack of language services offered by organizations. As our present mandate does not permit us to investigate, we follow up informally to discuss ways to improve services in the official languages. We look forward to more effectively protecting language rights in all sectors once the new Official Languages Act comes into force.

Some of the concerns we receive are about services offered by municipalities and private organizations. The expanded mandate provided under provisions in the acts will enable us to conduct investigations when required.

We rely greatly on the public to inform us if a GN organization is not living up to its obligations under the acts. Each concern we receive helps us to identify problems and work with departments to improve government services in all of our official languages. Any violation could continue if unreported.

Any inquiries and recommendations we make are conducted in a spirit of cooperation and respect with the applicant and the agencies involved.

Work Plan 2010-2011

Develop and Implement a Communications Strategy

We require a long-term communication strategy to informing the public on their language rights effectively, and with the minimum of resources, . We will work with a communications firm to do this. The strategy will outline specific targets and action plans. Once the communications strategy is finalized we will immediately work to implement the plan.

Systemic Investigations

With our expanded mandate we can now carry out systemic investigations of language rights abuse. This year our office staff received training on investigations procedures. This fiscal year we intend to conduct at least two systemic investigations. The decision to undertake such an exercise will be based on the answers to one or more of the following questions:

- How many concerns have we received?
- Does the situation encompass broad policy issues?
- Is it an ongoing problem?
- Are large numbers of people potentially affected?

New Office

We are advertising again for a new office. We will relocate once we find suitable space and then inform the public of our new location.

Website Applications

We will be tendering out the creation of applications for the youth portal portion of our website. This section is critical to our goal of informing youth of the importance of language rights and of kindling their interest in and enthusiasm of this subject. Without applications, we anticipate they will have little interest in visiting our site.

Private Sector Outreach

We are in the process of hiring a private sector liaison officer. We look forward to having this person start informing the private sector about the service and communication requirements expected of them. The communications strategy will also cover plans on private sector outreach.

Status of Language Services

Ten year review

The purpose of this ten year review is twofold: first, to provide a report on the status of the language services provided by the Government of Nunavut (GN) at this time; secondly, to ascertain if any of the recommendations made by this office have been met. Many of these recommendations targeted the formulation of a new Official Languages Act and an Inuit Language Protection Act. Since the acts have passed, this review concerns itself only with the progress of those recommendations that were related to basic language services and communication by the territorial government.

We have separated the recommendations into subject headings. The recommendation (in some cases rephrased) are identified by date and italicized type. The research results follow.

GN Action Status

Right to work

(2000-2001) In keeping with the goals of The Bathurst Mandate, we strongly urge Cabinet to strike a working group of senior officials to begin work on a comprehensive language strategy aimed at establishing Inuktitut as the working language of Government of Nunavut. The working group should also consider ways to improve the delivery of services to the public in all of Nunavut's official languages.

The right to work in the Inuit language within the Government of Nunavut is covered within the Inuit Language Protection Act. This right is to be in place by September, 2011. We questioned the lead department at Human Resources on their readiness to implement this section of the act. Their reply was: "In collaboration with our stakeholders, the department is developing a comprehensive implementation plan to address the language of work requirements of the Inuit Language Protection Act. This is a major goal or objective for 2010-11 in our business plan."

It seems unrealistic to expect full implementation when the department had delayed including this requirement in its business plan until the current fiscal year. The likely delay is a major concern, especially considering this office has been pushing GN for this since 2000-01.

Communication & Media

(2000-2001) We recommend that Cabinet request all Government of Nunavut departments and the Legislative Assembly to comply with the Official Languages Act by making their websites available in Inuktitut, Inuinnaqtun and French )

Websites of GN Departments, boards & agencies

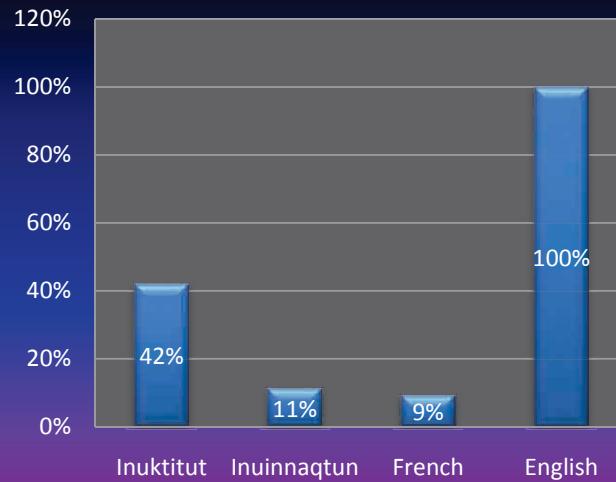

In performing this analysis, we carefully looked at each department, board or agency's web pages between July 18 and July 22, 2010. The following graphs show the relative percentage of each official language used.

Government of Nunavut Department's & Agencies' Websites

Official language usage on 20 websites. The 25% of unavailable web pages may be firewall restrictions

Conclusions

The graphs show that on average the percentage of content is: English 100%, Inuktitut 46%, Inuinnaqtun 18% and French 19%.

The graphs demonstrate that official language use on GN websites require a fundamental change in management policy, particularly in view of the new language legislation.

GN Press Releases

Although this was never one of our recommendations, we reviewed the 125 GN press releases for the fiscal year 2009-2010.

Critical information

Urgent situations have prevented the simultaneous publishing of information in all languages. For instance, the swine flu (H1N1) crisis which required that the public be kept continuously informed during the first two weeks of June 2009.

The GN quickly rectified the situation with subsequent press releases but this example seem symptomatic of the failure to communicate the most urgent messages of health, security and safety issues in all official languages when it is most necessary to do so. The Languages Commissioner is of the opinion that the failure to publish in all official languages excludes access to urgent information.

Delays or failure to publish

It is common to see the following message in English with news releases: "All languages will be posted on the GN website as they become available." This message is unintelligible to non-English speakers. In addition, there is often a delay of up to two weeks on issuing the missing language releases--if released at all.

Signage

(2001-02) The Government of Nunavut take immediate steps to ensure the signs it puts up inside and outside its offices in Cambridge Bay and Kugluktuk are written in Inuinnaqtun using roman orthography (qaluijaaqpait).

We have been advised this recommendation has not been implemented. Government posts and signs continue to be in syllabics in Inuinnaqtun speaking communities (Kugluktuk and Cambridge Bay) where the writing system is based on the Roman orthography.

Language tools

(2003-02) My recommendation is to require use of Pigiarniq and Uqammaq fonts in all GN documents (including training of users).

It has been reported to us that this recommendation has been fully implemented. According to GN:

All new GN computers are equipped with standard Unicode-based syllabic fonts, such as Pigiarniq, and include an appropriate syllabic keyboard driver. The Department of Culture, Language, Elders and Youth also commissioned the development of a set of language tools grouped under the Nunavut Utilities. The utilities provide easy conversions between several “archaic” (7-bit) syllabic fonts to Unicode Standards. It also has two built-in orthographic rules checkers, respectively for Inuktitut and Inuinnaqtun typed texts. Users can further easily transliterate syllabic text into roman orthography, and vice versa. The syllabic fonts and keyboard driver, and the Nunavut Utilities are usually pre-installed on GN workstations, and an upgrade is readily available to any employee that requests it through the Help Desk.

The Department of Human Resources offers regularly language training to GN employees, including syllabic typing courses, and workshops on the proper use of ICI standards. The Department of Human Resources is also exploring options to offer an Introduction to the Inuktitut Language Interface training course as part of their Learning and Development Program.

Proofreading

(2002-03) I recommend that at least one new position be created within this division of Culture, Language, Elders & Youth to proofread all translations produced by the GN for public release, including (or especially) those produced or contracted out by individual departments. The person in this position must be very literate in Inuktitut, and must be expert in the use of the standardized dual writing systems. In the case that the volume of materials to be proofread is too much to be addressed by the proofreader(s), Culture, Language, Elders & Youth should have a priority listing of the types of documents to be proofread starting with high-profile items like signage and ending with internal departmental working documents.

GN Response

As part of the Minister of Languages' Comprehensive Implementation Plan, Culture, Language, Elders & Youth has identified the creation of Reviewer/Editor positions for Inuktitut, Inuinnaqtun and French as a priority. These positions would work closely with the Inuit Uqausingin-nik Taiguusiliuqtii to ensure that standardized terminology, orthography and other Inuit Language usage standards are consistently used in all government communications.

(Note: We have not seen the Minister of Languages' Comprehensive Implementation Plan.)

Communication within Health & Social Services

(2003-04) I recommend that the department of Health and Social Services take all steps necessary to bring their communications practices into compliance with the Official Languages Act of Nunavut. They must take appropriate measures to ensure that Nunavummiut can communicate to them in person, in writing or by any other means in the Official Language of the citizen's choice. I further recommend that the department assign one of their Assistant Deputy Ministers to oversee the adherence of the department's communications to the Official Languages Act, thus ensuring that the department does not ignore its obligations under the Act in the future.

This recommendation is not an easy one to report on. The HSS is a department that provides mostly essential services. Language services are critical and are more than simply the availability of telephone reception and website information. They include health patients having the ability to choose their language in services such as inpatient or outpatient care at nursing stations or hospitals, dealings with social services, and obtaining vital information. To report fully on the status of this recommendation would require a systemic investigation, which will need to occur at another time. Here is what we did find with the resources and time available.

Telephone survey

On September 7, 2010, we conducted a telephone survey of the 29 Central/Head offices of the Department of Health and Social Services to gauge language services.

Results

- Out of a total of 29 calls, we only reached 12 central/head offices. (Each office was called twice).
- Out of a total of 18 voicemails: one message contained French, 18 messages contained English, two messages contained Inuit language and two contained no messages, only a ring tone.

The following questions were not understood:

Do you speak the French/Inuit language?

Can I be transferred to a representative who speaks the French/Inuit language please?

- Among the respondents, three of them were able to respond in French. For the nine other respondents, it was necessary to reformulate the question in English.
- When the demand was reformulated in English, only one respondent was able to redirect the call to a French speaker, while none of the 11 respondents were able to do so.
- Among the 12 respondents, seven of them were able to answer the phone in the Inuit languages while five could not. Among these 12 respondents, 10 of them were able to transfer the call to a representative speaking the Inuit language while two could not.

On-going training of Interpreter/Translators

There seems to be very little ongoing training of staff medical interpreters. Participation rate in Arctic College's Interpreter/translation program is negligible. It is the opinion of this office that the department needs to do more to support the ongoing training of its interpreters.

Publications

The department should be commended for their efforts in publishing important health information in all official languages. Unfortunately, these publications are not always posted in health and government buildings. This may be due to the individuals posting them. Perhaps Health & Social Services should give instructions (if not already doing so) when distributing posters and notices that they must be posted in all official languages, especially in public buildings.

Training

HSS has acted to promote and recruit Nunavummiut into the health profession and have more Inuit and Inuit language speakers on staff. The department has partnered with Nunavut Arctic College to develop and deliver a number of education and training programs that lead to careers in health or social services. These programs include nursing, mental health, human services (social, alcohol and drug workers), maternal care, and community health representatives. The department states that enrolment in these programs continues to grow and that there is a continual increase in the number of staff who can provide direct service in the Inuit language. It must be noted that enrolment and staffing increase numbers were not provided to validate this claim.

Client Services

The department established two Client Services Coordinator positions to respond to inquiries and assist in resolving complaints from clients. One of these is located in Iqaluit providing services in Inuktitut/English; the other, located in Cambridge Bay providing services in Inuinnaqtun/English. Nunavummiut can contact the Client Services Coordinator through their toll-free telephone numbers. Both positions are currently filled.

Administration

The Assistant Deputy Minister of Operations oversees the health and social services system in all regions of Nunavut. This position is accountable for ensuring compliance with the Official Language Act.

(Note: The new Official Languages Act is clearer on the duties of administrative heads on complying with the act. see section 12(7)).

Forms

(2003-04) I recommend that Cabinet direct each Government of Nunavut department to inventory all forms sent out to the public and ensure all are available in Inuktitut (and/or Inuinnaqtun when required), French and English. This is a requirement outlined in the Official Languages Services Guidelines written by Culture, Language, Elders & Youth. The GN should be prepared to accept forms completed by members of the public in any official languages.

It is difficult to know whether an inventory was ever done on all public GN forms. Our office asked the Department of Executive and Intergovernmental affairs whether they knew this took place or not but never got a reply. On the GN website, all forms are in English. We called each department and asked if they were available in other official languages. Here are the results:

Application for Outfitters License

The phone number listed on the form is the Director of Health's but we eventually obtained the information required from Department of Environment which is that the form is available in English and French.

Application for Operator's License

Information on how to obtain the form was only available in English. There were three different contact numbers listed. These were for the Qikiqtaaluk region, Kivalliq region and Kitikmeot region.

Qikiqtaaluk's number was always busy; Kivallik's gave us finance; Kitikmeot's was correct. We were told the form was available in all languages and were given a number for the office of Motor Vehicles in Iqaluit. We were told that the application was available only in English but the manual to study driving was published in all official languages.

Birth-Marriage-Death Licence

Available in Inuktitut and English.

Conclusion

Our view is that the forms are in need of an information update and made available in all official languages.

Telephone Contact

2003-04) I would like to recommend that employees designated to serve the public in any official language be given the training necessary to properly discern what services are needed, and then direct members of the public to where they may be accessed.

To assess the telephone language availability in all official language our office undertook to telephoning head and central offices of government offices, including boards and agencies.

Results – Inuit language

The following questions were asked:

Do you speak Inuit languages?

Can I be transferred to a representative who speaks an Inuit language?

- Out of 101 calls, we reached 37 Central/Head offices.
- Of a total of 64 voice mails: 16 messages contained Inuit languages, 2 messages contained French and 59 messages contained English.
- Among the 37 respondents, 21 of them were able to answer the phone in the Inuit language, and 18 able to answer the questions in the Inuit language. Of the 16 respondents who could not speak the Inuit language, three were unable to transfer the call to an Inuit language speaker because none were in the office.

Results - French

We asked the same questions for the French language and obtained the following results.

- Out of 99 calls, we reached 41 Central/Head offices.
- Out of 58 voicemails: two messages contained French, 55 messages contained English, 13 messages contained the Inuit language and three contained only a ring tone.
- Among the respondents, six of them were able to respond in French. For the 35 other respondents, it was necessary to reformulate the question in English. The following questions were not understood.

(2008-09) I recommend that the Government of Nunavut makes it a priority to create a strategy for increasing Inuit content exponentially for all age levels

GN response:

Under the Inuit Language Protection Act, the Minister of Languages has the responsibility to develop policies and programs that promote the increased production, distribution and access to Inuit language content using all kind of media (print, film, television, radio, digital audio or video, interactive or any other media), whichever has the greatest potential to promote the use or revitalization of the Inuit language. Increase support for Culture and the Arts is also one of the top priorities of the Government of Nunavut under Tamapta.

The Government of Nunavut has a strong track record of supporting the creation of new Inuit language content using a variety of media. For example, through its annual Grants and Contributions Programs, Culture, Language, Elders & Youth has funded many publications by the Nunavut Bilingual Education Society, the Nunavut Literacy Council and other organizations. It also provides annual support to the Inuit Broadcasting Corporation for the development Inuktitut Language Television Programming for children and youth, and for new initiatives such as online projects bringing the Inuit language to the digital world (see isuma.tv by NITV). Culture, Language, Elders & Youth has also increased the level of support provided for the operations of community radio stations, and each year it supports a broad range of other initiatives that increase Inuit language content such as music CDs, recording oral histories, and documenting traditional place names. These grassroots initiatives have an important impact on identity, pride and language use, and Culture, Language, Elders & Youth will continue to provide support for similar community-based projects in the future.

The Department of Economic Development and Transportation recently introduced a new Film, Television, and Digital Media Development Contribution Policy, and a companion Film, Television and Digital Media Fund through which Inuit language projects will be supported.

Other important government initiatives have also included Titiralirittil! Nunavut's Literary Contest by Culture, Language, Elders & Youth, the publications from the Interviewing Elders Series and Nunavut Leaders Biographies by Nunavut Arctic College. Many school books are also published every year by the Teaching and Learning Center at the Department of Education.

The Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtuit is also in the process of creating and managing an awards program that will recognize outstanding achievements by a person or organization in complying with the requirements of the Inuit Language Protection Act in developing, promoting or protecting the Inuit language. This will help acknowledge efforts to revitalize and promote the Inuit language through books, music and other means.

The Minister of Languages' Comprehensive Implementation Plan will provide a coordinated approach for increased production, distribution and access of Inuit language content using all kind of media, including print, music, television, film, and other new media, while identifying the roles and responsibilities of the government, stakeholders and communities in its implementation.

Language Software

(2008-09) I recommend the need for territorial institution to make available to their employees tools such as Microsoft's Inuit Language Interface at every workstation. I also suggest that the GN provide assistance to freelance translators to have access to these tools.

GN response:

The Inuit Language Interface Pack of Microsoft Office is available to any employee upon request. The Inuit Language Interface Pack is also freely available for download directly from Microsoft's website. Instructions to install the language interface pack are also available on Microsoft's, as well as Pirurvik Center's website.

Microsoft: <http://office.microsoft.com/en-us/downloads/HA011133501033.aspx>

Pirurvik : <http://www.pirurvik.ca/en/productions/microsoft>

(2008-09). I recommend the creation of a strategy for reducing the costs of producing, translating and publishing printed and electronic documents

GN Response:

The Department of Culture, Language, Elders and Youth has acquired a Multilingual Translation Memory and Terminology Management System from Multicorpora through a tender process. The Multitrans system allows for greater control of the translation process, by capturing and organizing past translations into a single database, and by ensuring consistent language and terminology use in translation projects.

Although there are obvious benefits by using translation and terminology tools to increase productivity, our strategy requires careful planning to address some of the unique challenges faced by GN translators, including support for two writing systems, processing and alignment of past translations, quality control and use of dialects, while considering limited and small network bandwidth is only available at the regional offices in Kugluktuk and Igloolik.

Staff from the Bureau has further received training on Plunet Business Manager, a web-based translation management and tracking system complimentary to MultiTrans.

Human Resources

GN staff

(2000-01) We recommend that Cabinet encourage the Department of Human Resources to develop a new language bonus system that would provide an incentive for all Government of Nunavut employees to acquire or improve upon their Inuktitut language skills and to use Inuktitut in the workplace.

The bilingual bonus system is still in place within the public service of territorial government. A language incentive program is not yet in place.

Each year since 2003-04 HR's business plans contain a statement on either reviewing the bilingual bonus program or a proposal for language incentive programs. It has been nine years since the recommendation, and seven years since HR included it in their business plan. The recommendation still has to be implemented.

(2000-01) We recommend that Cabinet encourage the Departments of Culture, Language, Elders and Youth and Human Resources to devote more resources to language enhancement training for Inuktitut speaking employees.

(2002-03) I would also like to re-state my wish to see the GN offer language enhancement training for Inuktitut speaking staff at various levels of ability. We recommend hiring a full time instructor to run beginner, intermediate and advanced Inuktitut courses simultaneously throughout the fall-spring seasons, with a planning and development period allocated for the summer.

In the GNs 2001-02 business plan, one of their stated priorities was an Inuktitut Language training strategy.

It seems this recommendation has been put in to action. Since 2004 the Department of Human Resources has provided an Inuit language training program for government employees. The department allocates $553,000 annually for the program, and the program is available in all regions. On average, 118 employees have annually taken part in these programs. They include introductory Inuktitut/Inuinnaqtun courses, level II, and now level III and ICI standard writing and syllabic typing. Both Kitikmeot and Kivalliq regions have full time instructor positions, whereas the Baffin region program is contracted to a private firm. Since its inception language training had focused training as a second language. In 2007-08, HR's business plan stated they will work with both the Department of Culture, Language, Elders & Youth and Nunavut Arctic College to expand and develop curriculum and materials to deliver first language courses.

Language Professionals

(2000-01) The training of language professionals, including Inuktitut and Inuinnaqtun instructors, translator and interpreters, must become a much greater priority for the government. We recommend that Cabinet consider measures, including increased funding, that would strengthen Nunavut Arctic College's ability to deliver both the Translator and Interpreter Program and the Nunavut Teacher Education Program.

Training language professionals will take a good long term effort to overcome the challenges involved in protecting, and in some communities revitalizing, the Inuit language. We anticipate that the implementation plan for the Inuit Language Protection Act will include the training of language professionals.

Efforts on training of language professionals:

The Language Program is delivered by Nunavut Arctic College to provide students the opportunity to develop their Inuit traditional knowledge and language. This program supports one of the priorities of the college (2009-10) which is to meet their obligations conferred by the Inuit Language Protection Act. In 2008-09, $ 726,000 was allocated to the program but declined by $ 4,000 in 2009-10. If we look at the estimates of for the years 2010-11 and 2011-12, the language program should receive an increase in funding of $74,000 by 2012.

It should be noted that:

- The teacher education program is now available in more communities.
- NAC had a program to train Inuinnaqtun language professionals but could not find enough students with the language proficiency needed for training.

(2002-03) The Languages Commissioner is calling on the Department of Justice to develop a long-term recruitment, training and retaining strategy with the goal of ensuring that there are Inuktitut interpreters available for all of the Nunavut Court of Justice's proceedings within a reasonable timeframe.

Department of Justice does not have a strategic long-term recruitment, training and retention plan for Inuktitut interpreters for Nunavut Court of Justice (NCJ). However, NCJ partners with Nunavut Arctic College to assist in the Interpreter/translator course. We were informed by justice officials that an interpreter is always on hand when court is sitting.

(2002-03) We recommend NCJ take a pro-active role in informing those involved in proceedings of their right to an interpreter in appropriate circumstances.

According to court officials, informing those appearing in court that they have the right to receive services in an official language is at the discretion of individual judges.

(2002-03) Nunavut Court of Justice and the Nunavut Law Society to make it clear to judges and attorneys that informal interpreting by family members is an unacceptable practice.

From our communications with court officials, it seems directives and or rules in the NCJ dealing with proper interpretation services are non-existent. Again, this seems to be left at the discretion of the judge.

Language Data

(2008-09) We recommend that the Government of Nunavut collect data on language use every two years.

GNs response:

The newly established Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtiiit (Inuit Language Authority) has the legislated mandate to undertake or supervise research, in collaboration with organizations from or outside of Nunavut, including providing periodic assessments of the strength or needs of the Inuit language. The Senate of Canada has also recommended, in its report Languages Rights in Canada's North: Nunavut's New Official Languages Act, that Statistics Canada should also monitor the use of aboriginal languages in Nunavut.

Implementation of the Languages Commissioner's recommendation would require substantial financial and human resources. It would also require collaboration and partnerships with a number of stakeholders, including various GN departments and agencies, the Federal government, Inuit organizations, the Office of the Languages Commissioner, and the involvement of language communities.

The Inuit Uqausinginnik Taiguusiliuqtiiit has initiated discussions with the Nunavut Statistics Bureau on the feasibility of a Nunavut Language Use Survey. The support and collaboration of Statistics Canada would appear to be an important asset to the project, and discussions should take place with the federal government in the coming months. The support of other stakeholders, including Inuit organizations, the Office of the Languages

Commissioner, and communities will be essential to both the design and implementation of the survey.

The Government of Nunavut's position is that language data collection and analysis should form an integral part of its Comprehensive Implementation Plan for the Official Languages and the Inuit Language Protection Acts. In doing so, the GN will be in a position to lobby the federal government for the financial resources and expertise needed to monitor language use.

Sports

(2005-06) We recommend that Sport Nunavut add a language component to their awards program as an incentive to make the Inuit language the language of sport in Nunavut. This could involve rewarding participants in Sport Nunavut events for communicating with their teammates in the Inuit language, speaking to the press in the Inuit language, and speaking to officials and the public in the Inuit language as well

GN Response:

Currently, all public sporting events are conducted in the local language of preference, either Inuktitut or English.

Conclusion

Over all, the GN needs to do much more to safeguard the language rights of Nunavut's population to receive service in the official languages. The seriousness of not providing services in the official languages cannot be overstated. Any one with an interest in languages rights must feel concerned that most of the recommendations made by this office of the past ten years have not succeeded.

The lack of language services can have an adverse impact on citizen's lives as well as increase the risk of language erosion. The language acts were created for these reasons. When an individual fails to receive service in an official language of choice, it is not only a breach of the law, but also a message that his or her language is not respected.

We can only hope that this track record of non-compliance improves substantially when it comes to implementing the new language laws.
